REFLECTION OF ACHIEVEMENT

"The Twentieth Century Belongs to Canada."
... A bold prediction when it was made, but Canadian enterprise is rapidly bringing this prophecy to fulfilment.

You can see this achievement reflected in cities and on farms . . . in new factories, oil wells, mines and power plants. The Canadian Bank of Commerce has been an integral part of this development, and continues to work with the men who are making the Twentieth Century Canada's.

Introduction

★ The CANADIAN TRADE INDEX is designed to provide buyers and sellers of Canada and other countries with an authoritative directory of all products manufactured in Canada, and the names of the firms making them. It includes a complete list of Canadian manufacturers having more than a local distribution for their products, irrespective of membership in the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. Their products are classified under some 10,000 different headings.

This new edition of the INDEX includes details of many new firms and a great variety of new products, some of them being made in Canada for the first time. In addition, it embodies countless thousands of changes of names, addresses, products listings, foreign representatives, etc.

The accurate and detailed classifications in this directory will ordinarily enable prospective purchasers to get in touch at once with manufacturers of the goods desired. Where specialized information is needed, buyers are invited to call on the gratuitous service of the Commercial Intelligence Department of the Association. It is suggested that importers abroad should first communicate with the nearest Canadian Government Trade Commissioner, consulting the list of their names and addresses on pages 231 to 233 of the Special Export Section. Representatives of overseas firms visiting Canada are invited to call at the Head Office of the Association where they will be given every possible assistance.

Users of the INDEX will find the regular advertising sections invaluable in supplementing the information contained in the alphabetical and classified sections of the Directory. Advertising page numbers are indicated opposite the classified and alphabetical listings of advertisers and, in addition, your attention is invited to the classified Business Cards beginning on page 1103.

The "CANADIAN INDUSTRY BUILDS" section beginning on page 463 is a valuable source of information on industrial progress in Canada. This special feature contains up-to-date data on developments in each Province and in the Yukon and Northwest Territories, well illustrated, with many pictures in full colour. In addition to the special articles and advertisements depicting fine new Canadian plants and industries, this Section contains a list of companies appearing in the CANADIAN TRADE INDEX for the first time in this edition and the principal industrial expansions announced during 1952.

The publishers wish to thank the manufacturers, government departments, and other organizations who have furnished information upon which this book is based.

"COGHLIN" SPRINGS

EXPERIENCE:

We are the oldest spring manufacturers in Canada, founded in 1869 and in that period we have mastered many difficulties. Our springs have given satisfaction, or we would not have been here to tell the tale.

WORKMANSHIP:

Our men have one and all served a long apprenticeship in the art of spring making and are familiar with every detail of a perfect spring.

EQUIPMENT:

Our machinery is of the latest, and much of it of special design perfected by ourselves, from knowledge of requirements.

HEAT-TREATMENT:

Our furnaces are all automatically controlled and the final heat-treatment is done in the latest Leeds & Northrup electric furnaces.

RAW MATERIAL:

We carry a very large assorted stock of sizes and grades of material to give prompt deliveries, and all materials as received are carefully checked both for physical and chemical analysis.

TESTS AND INSPECTION:

Every spring is carefully tested and inspected before shipment to see that the right article is supplied.

RECORDS:

Careful records are kept of all completed orders, hence we can duplicate customers' orders promptly.

No shortage in quality

You can be sure that the Black Diamond files you get are top quality.

That's due to file-making methods over which we maintain absolute control.

For more than 50 years now, Black Diamond files have set a standard for file quality in Canada.

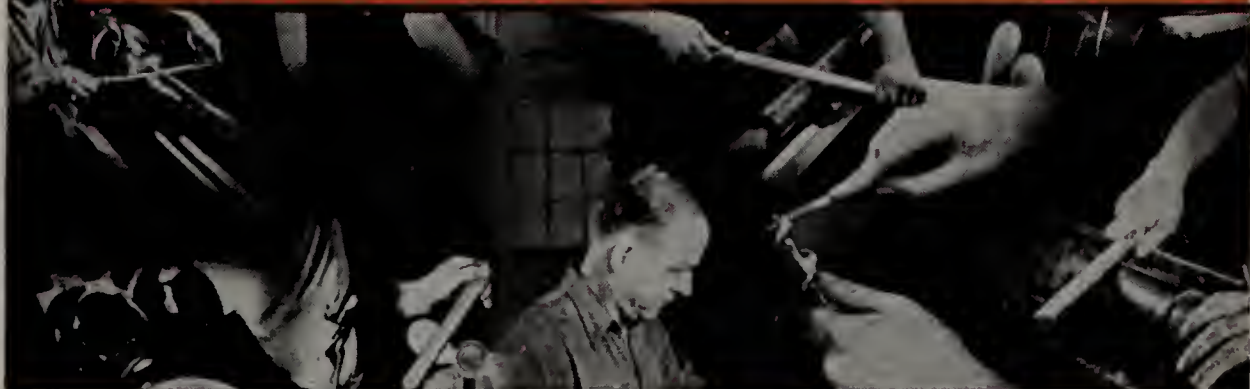

Through their longer lasting features these famous files themselves contribute notably to the conservation of steel.

And through their superior cutting efficiency they contribute to the greater industrial production that is so vitally needed in these days of stress.

KIND OF OIL		RESULT
CUTTING OIL	Metallic Particles Water, Grit	Oil can safely be re-used indefinitely Less dermatitis Increases tool life
DRAWING OIL	Scale Metallic Particles	Saves wear on dies
GRINDING COOLANT	Abrasive Particles Metallic Particles	Saves wheel dressing time Better finishes in less time Likelihood of distorting work decreased
HONING OIL	Abrasive Particles Metallic Particles	Reduces rejects Insures mirrorlike finish
HYDRAULIC OIL BALER OIL	Condensate Solid Impurities	Eliminates rust Saves pumps and control mechanisms Valve sticking minimized Prevents hardening of leather seals

THE two most harmful deterrents—dirt and water—are both removed continuously from oil by De Laval Centrifugal Force. This continuous protection costs only a fraction of the expense incurred when even a single failure is caused by impure lubricants.

A De Laval Oil Purifier acts in two ways: (1) It removes foreign materials from oil (or other liquids) and (2) it separates two liquids of different specific gravities.

SERVICE

Made in Canada for 41 years

Speed Reducers

Used wherever High Speed Power is applied to Low Speed Use

Worm gear and helical gear units, in single and multiple reduction, are made in a wide range of sizes. Send for catalogue on either of these types, listing standard sizes, with power capacities and detail specifications. These are high grade, heavy duty gear drives, designed and rated for 24-hour continuous service. Ratios are available up to six thousand to one in simple, efficient, self-contained units.

The Compensating Joint

Silent Chain Drives

The Hamilton-Ramsey silent chain (made in Canada) will operate at higher speeds, and run smoother and with less wear than any competing chain because of the compensating rolling cam action in the patented Ramsey joint. Supplied in $\frac{3}{8}$ " to $1\frac{1}{2}$ " pitch.

Industrial Cut Gears

for Every Use and of Any Material

CAPACITIES :—

Spur Gears up to	205 ins.
Internal Gears to	84 ins.
Bevel Gears up to	62 ins.
Worm Wheels to	205 ins.
Helical, Spiral or Herringbone	205 ins.
Closed Apex Herringbone	48 ins.
Hardened Steel Gears up to	69 ins.
Racks up to length of	45 ft.

ROLDWELD Steel Spur Gears

This electric-welded steel gear has a .45% C. forging-quality rim. It is long wearing and practically unbreakable. The cost is less than a steel casting, the strength is greater, and delivery can be made in a quarter of the time. See photo above.

Flexible Couplings

A full line of standard flexible couplings for both high speed and slow speed, the former illustrated here, are carried in stock. Larger sizes to order. We also stock small power flexible couplings down to fractional h.p. ratings. Send for couplings catalogue.

Welding and Cutting Apparatus

HAND APPARATUS available from DOC for application of oxy-acetylene processes includes welding and heating blowpipes; cutting blowpipes, attachments, and nozzles; equipment for descaling, flame-priming, and many other DOC methods for treating and forming metals. The OXWELD brand of apparatus is supplied directly from DOC offices and warehouses. PUROX welding and cutting equipment and PREST-O-LITE air-acetylene appliances for soldering and brazing are distributed by industrial and automotive jobbers. Write for catalog, specifying apparatus in which you are interested.

MACHINE APPARATUS— OXWELD apparatus for mechanized applications includes portable and stationary oxy-acetylene shape-cutting machines; straight-line cutting machines; flame-hardening apparatus; bar and billet cutoff machines; equipment for automatic welding; and tractor units for plate-edge preparation. Write for catalog, specifying type of equipment.

GENERATORS and MANIFOLDS — OXWELD acetylene generators produce low-cost acetylene and are available for both portable and stationary use—with generating capacities of from 30 to 9,000 cu. ft. per hour. OXWELD oxygen and acetylene manifolds are used for centralizing the oxygen and acetylene supply from cylinders. Catalog sent on request.

WELDING RODS and SUPPLIES — OXWELD welding rods and fluxes are of exceptionally high quality. The many kinds and sizes of OXWELD rods make it possible to select the one that will give best results on each job. The OXWELD line also includes gloves, goggles, lighters, hose and fittings, and asbestos paper. Rods, fluxes, and supplies are available from DOC or from automotive and industrial jobbers. Write for descriptive price list.

"UNIONMELT" APPARATUS, for use in the submerged melt electric process, makes high-quality welds in any commercially used thickness of steel at high speed and without flash, glare, or sparks. Speed and current values are preset by controls adjusted by the operator. Either alternating or direct welding current can be used. Write for equipment catalog.

"HELIARC" WELDING — This high speed electric process makes clean, smooth welds, without flux, in practically all kinds of commercial metals. DOC supplies equipment and inert shielding gas. Write for further information.

SIGMA WELDING — This is a superfast production method for welding aluminum, stainless steel, and other metals with a consumable electrode in a protective shield of inert gas. DOC furnishes equipment, gases, and supplies for this electric welding process. Complete information on request.

OXYGEN . . . ACETYLENE . . . CARBIDE — DOMINION oxygen, PREST-O-LITE acetylene, and UNION carbide are widely distributed through plants and warehouses located for dependable deliveries at low transportation costs. Full information about all DOC products and processes can be obtained from any DOC office.

McDOUGALL

Since 1905 R. McDougall have been designing and building Canada's most famous line of lathes for industry and since 1880 pumps for farms and homes. R. McDougall leads the field in specially designed precision production tools. McDougall machines are in demand by automotive and jet engine builders in both the United States and Canada. Naval and other Defense procurement groups specify McDougall machine tools for installations requiring high precision production under particular and difficult operating conditions. You are invited to discuss your machining problem with McDougall engineers.

STANDARD SCREW PRODUCTS

Supplied from Stock

Cap screws, set screws, S.F. nuts . . . these in their untold thousands make up the products that are termed "Standard" in our industry. Wherever your specifications call for fasteners, check the Acme catalogue for complete data. Chances are, that an Acme Standard will fill the bill economically and satisfactorily.

SPECIAL SCREW PRODUCTS

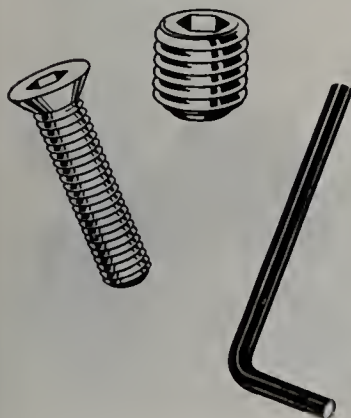

in Quantities to Order

Perhaps it's a non-standard item . . . or a tiny fastener that hasn't been designed or machined to exact dimensions. Then again, it might be that a complete modification of a sub-assembly is required. At any rate, investigation will reveal the trouble and Acme's Screw Products Division can help you solve it to your satisfaction.

ALLEN HEX-SOCKET CAP & SET SCREWS AND KEYS

Allen Hex-Socket Cap and Set Screws are in constant demand because of their rugged, wear-resisting strength. Also available from stock are Allen Dowel Pins, Shoulder Screws and Key & Screw Assortments.

SHIP CONSTRUCTION & REFITTING

IDEALLY situated on a year-round harbour, with marine railway, modern docking facilities and skilled workers, Lunenburg Foundry leads in the building and refitting of trowlers, draggers, schooners, patrol boats and coastal freighters.

During the sixty years in which the Company has maintained and enlarged these activities, it has also acquired a continent-wide reputation for the manufacture and installation of deck and underwater fittings and machinery.

This "know-how" can help reduce your operating costs. Write for catalogue and prices of marine equipment, machinery, ship construction and refitting, as well as the supplying and installation of marine and industrial engines—steam, diesel and gasoline.

Canada's Modern Brass Mill

a dependable source for brass and copper mill products

Production facilities have been greatly expanded at our mills in Montreal East to keep pace with Canada's industrial growth. We manufacture a wide range of copper-base alloys in the form of sheet, rod, wire and tubing to meet the exacting requirements of metal fabricators.

STRIP—Furnished in rolls and flat lengths, Noranda strip is made for deep drawing, spinning and forming, as well as for building and construction requirements. Available in copper, yellow brass, cartridge brass, low and rich low brass, commercial bronze, gilding metal, phosphor bronze and nickel silver.

WIRE—Noranda wire in brass and silicon bronze. It is made in a range of sizes with temper and surface suitable for making cold-headed bolts, screws, rivets, miscellaneous upset parts, and for wire-forming operations.

ROD—A wide range of sizes of free-turning brass rod is made for the manufacture of screw machine products. Corrosion-resistant Naval brass rod and rod for hot forging are also available, as is bronze welding rod for repairing iron and steel parts and building up worn surfaces.

TUBING—Noranda copper water tubing for plumbing, heating, refrigeration and fuel oil lines. Red brass pipe for plumbing and underground service. Condenser and heat exchanger tubing for power, marine, petroleum refining, sugar refining, chemical and processing applications.

VALVES, FITTINGS AND PIPING

Plumbing and Heating Equipment for every industry and every home from ONE COMPLETE LINE CRANE

Here's a grand rule of thumb to follow: if it's anything in piping, plumbing or heating equipment, count on CRANE.

An unequalled selection of VALVES AND FITTINGS is offered for your selection in the complete Crane line—for every power, process or general service need. Crane brass, iron, steel and alloy piping materials are recognized for durable and dependable performance. Crane Quality means long service life . . . less maintenance . . . low ultimate cost.

In PLUMBING FIXTURES, as with valves and fittings, the name CRANE is synonymous with finest quality—in beauty of design, durability and convenience features. Bathtubs and lavatories, toilets and urinals, kitchen sinks and laundry tubs . . . all are available in a wide choice of styles, materials and prices. Many of these fixtures are available in eight attractive colours as well as white.

In HEATING, too, you can depend on Crane to meet the specific need—a hot water or steam boiler of the right type and capacity—hot water heaters—standard or concealed radiators, or radiant baseboard panels.

Whether it be for home or apartment, for school, church or store, there is a Crane installation to assure dependable heating service.

1-5237

*Descriptive literature on any phase of Crane Service gladly supplied. Ask any Plumbing and Heating Contractor or Crane
Branch—or write direct to Crane Limited, 1170 Beaver Hall Square, Montreal.*

DOMAL MAGNESIUM

gives Lightness and Strength to many Products

DOMAL Magnesium ingot metal is steadily growing in popularity with foundries and fabricators because magnesium castings and extrusions have repeatedly demonstrated their adaptability to a wide variety of uses.

● MAGNESIUM LADDERS wholly fabricated from low cost magnesium extrusions are in great demand because of their unbelievably long life, light weight, and resulting economy.

● MAGNESIUM GRAIN SHOVELS save time and money for the Canadian grain industry. Each magnesium shovel saves up to 100 pounds in weight over the steel shovel previously used, enjoys a longer life, and makes big savings in labour costs.

● MAGNESIUM EXTRUSIONS for forming truck bodies have proven popular because they reduce weight, permit higher payload and greater operating economy.

● MAGNESIUM WIRE SPOOLS not only proved cheaper in the long run than conventional steel-wood spools but were light enough to save shipping costs and durable enough to last six times as long.

● For more information on the adaptability of magnesium contact Sales Department.

One of these Torrington Bearings may solve a design problem for you...

Type DC Needle Bearing is suitable for applications where size, weight and cost must be held to a minimum.

Type AT Needle Bearing is designed for aircraft applications to be used in conjunction with standard AN bolts.

Type PN (Double Row) Needle Bearing meets all aircraft pulley requirements for primary control applications.

Type RC Needle Bearing is designed for cam follower service and rolling loads, where outer race is not supported by housing.

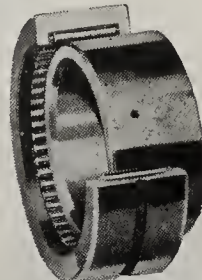

Self-Aligning Spherical Roller Bearing is designed for heavy-duty applications to meet conditions of misalignment.

Double Row Tapered Roller Bearing carries heavy radial and thrust loads where maximum stability is required.

Single Row Straight Roller Bearing is adaptable for high radial loads where simplicity of design, assembly and maintenance are important.

Type NCS Needle Bearing is particularly suitable for severe load applications and the most exacting service conditions.

It may not have occurred to you that there are so many different types of Torrington Bearings—or that the completeness of the line of these modern, anti-friction bearings makes them adaptable to many design requirements.

Pictured above are eight different types—and there are others, all different in design, to assure you a wide choice to meet any specific requirement. Each is engineered for a particular task—or combination of design requirements. Individually each offers the same characteristic advantages of unit design, anti-friction operation, high capacity, efficient lubrication, simple installation and maintenance.

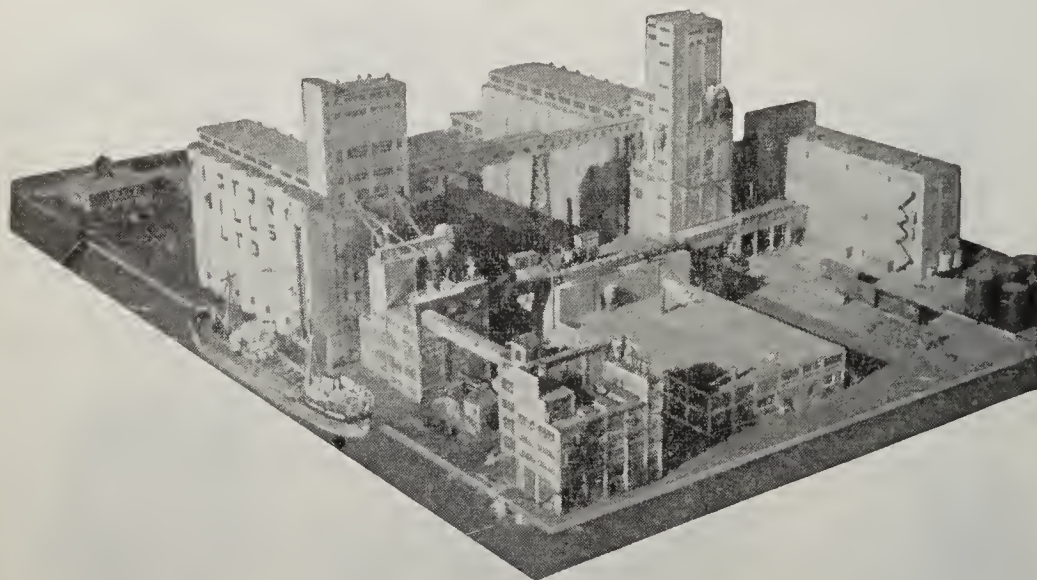

The result is that in almost any application where Torrington Bearings are employed the design problem is simplified; operating efficiency and service life are increased; manufacturing costs are reduced; and sales features are added.

Investigate for yourself how the advantages of Torrington's complete line of anti-friction bearings can be of assistance in your product planning. Full information is available on request, and our engineering staff is ready to help you with any design requirement.

PROVINCIAL

CRANES and HOISTS

Original thinking in Crane and Hoist design has produced the Provincial line illustrated here. First the Level Luffing Crane with balanced jib, no derrick ropes, no clutches. Saves power, works faster and is safer than former designs.

Hand or electrically operated Cranes of all sizes and capacities, for power house, steel mill or factory.

Provincial Chain Hoists from $\frac{1}{4}$ to 20 tons are lighter yet stronger. Newest model is the "HIEST-LIFT" hoist with minimum beam to hook height — cuts building cost or gives more headroom in existing buildings.

Electric Hoists from $\frac{1}{2}$ to 20 tons—compact and simple design, with high safety factor. All moving parts encased in weatherproof steel framework.

In addition to the manufacture of Cranes and Hoists, Provincial maintains an Installation Service to equip new plants from ground to roof, or for removal and re-erection of existing Mining, Pulp and Paper or Industrial plants.

For more than 30 years the picturesque Houseflag of the Canadian National (West Indies) Steamships has been a familiar sight in the West Indies and throughout the historic Caribbean area. The sleek white CNS Diesel Freighters maintain the avenues of international and inter-island trade opened up under the Canada West Indies Trade Agreement — upholding the traditions of reliability and service built up over the years. CNS is proud of the role it has played in establishing this vital two-way commerce between Canada and the Caribbean . . . and stands ready at all times to share its fund of information on Caribbean imports, exports and general conditions, available without obligation to interested enquirers.

RELIANCE Spring LOCK WASHERS keep bolted assemblies tighter longer

The powerful coil spring design of Reliance Spring Lock Washers prevents back-turning of nuts and keeps bolted assemblies under constant tension, automatically compensating for developed looseness. The heavy, fatigue-resisting spring-steel sections and wide reactive range keep assemblies tighter longer. Investigate the many advantages of Reliance Spring Lock Washers before specifying any fastening device. A complete range of sizes and types in carbon steel.

HUSKY ASPHALT

does the job better

Processed from a pure asphaltic crude, Husky Asphalt starts as a better natural asphalt with extra quality characteristics. Husky Asphalt is a Principal Product, not a residual or by-product. It is refined by asphalt specialists to a wide range of specifications.

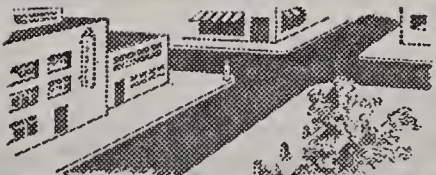

... builds better roads

Husky provides a complete line of paving asphalts, including penetrations and cutback road oils; emulsified asphalts are also available. The advice and co-operation of Husky technologists is available on all types of jobs.

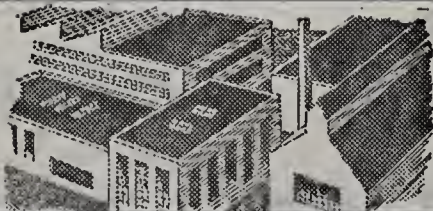

... aids town planning

Husky Asphalt presents possibilities of improvements on a budget to towns and communities, even those with limited finances. Illustrated bulletins with helpful information will be gladly sent to engineers or representatives of communities interested in starting an improvement program.

... makes superior roofing

Husky Roofing Asphalts have been proved under the most severe conditions. In the rigorous weather conditions of the western prairie and mountain areas, with temperatures ranging from 45 deg. below zero to 110 deg. above, Husky Roofing Asphalts have remained impervious to constant exposure.

... forms better briquettes

Husky Asphalt binder has helped many cool operators to develop new markets with better briquettes. Husky Cool Sprays are faster drying and longer lasting. Husky better asphalt products, and the "know-how" yielded by Husky experience and research, are at your service.

... engineered for industry

If there is a better and more economical way to do your job with asphalt, Husky can supply the information. Because Asphalt, its uses and potentialities, are the number one project of Husky operators and Husky research.

NICKEL ALLOYS

Sheet-Strip-Tube-Rod-Castings-Forgings

MONEL*—Corrosion-resisting alloy for general applications that require a tough, high-strength material.

"R" MONEL—Free-machining nickel-copper alloy for automatic machining and intricate machined shapes.

"K" MONEL—Can be heat-treated after finishing—for applications that require a corrosion-resisting material with extremely high strength and hardness. Non-magnetic.

"KR" MONEL—Machining quality material which can be heat-treated to develop properties similar to "K" Monel.

"S" MONEL—Extremely hard and strong cast alloy for valve trim, pump liners, and similar applications. Non-galling.

NICKEL—Commercially pure nickel for chemical equipment, electrical uses, high temperatures and corrosion-resistance.

DURANICKEL*—Spring-quality material. Can be heat-treated after forming to develop $2\frac{1}{2}$ to 4 times the strength of structural steel.

INCONEL*—Heat- and corrosion-resisting nickel-chromium alloy to endure temperatures up to 2000°F. High hot-strength and resistance to progressive oxidation and inter-crystalline attack. Non-magnetic.

INCONEL "X"—An alloy having a low creep rate under high stresses at 1200°-1500°F. after suitable thermal treatment, highly resistant to chemical corrosion and oxidation, and suitable for use as springs at temperatures up to 1000°F.

INCOLOY*—Like Inconel, Incoloy offers high-strength and resistance to oxidation and sulfidation, green-rot and molten cyanide salts and fused neutral salts at high temperatures.

NI-ROD*—Easy-handling AC-DC welding electrode that produces high-strength machinable welds in cast iron.

NI-ROD "55"—New welding electrode for machinable welds in all grades of cast iron, including high-phosphorus irons and castings of heavy section.

PRIMARY NICKEL FOR ALLOYING IRON, STEEL, BRASS & BRONZE

FOR WROUGHT STEEL—Electrolytic Cathode, 99.5% nickel (including Cobalt), sheared to 1", 2", 4" and 9" squares for the production of wrought nickel steels.

FOR STEEL CASTINGS—For the production of nickel alloy steel castings, electrolytic nickel squares and "XX" nickel shot are used.

FOR BRASS OR BRONZE—For the production of non-ferrous castings, electrolytic nickel squares, "XX" nickel shot and 50-50 copper-nickel shot are used.

FOR CAST IRON—"F" Nickel is a special grade of nickel recommended for making additions to cast iron. It is a low melting point product (about 2300°F. as compared to 2640°F. for pure nickel) containing approximately 92% nickel, balance silicon. It is available in 5 lb. ingots for cupola additions and in shot form for additions at the cupola point or to the ladle.

Electrolytic nickel is a carbon free product. For direct cupola melting, electrolytic nickel in the most convenient size is used.

"NCC" Ingot is an especially prepared nickel-copper-chromium ingot of proper balance for use in producing Ni-Resist†, a cast alloy iron with high resistance to heat and corrosion.

"N-H" Ingot is used for the production of Ni-Hard, an abrasion resistant alloy suitable for many abrasion applications in mining, ceramic and allied industries.

NISILOY*—An inoculant for improving machinability and structure of gray iron castings. Nisiloy contains approximately 60% nickel, 30% silicon, balance essentially iron.

TECHNICAL SERVICE

A large staff of engineers and specialists on technical subjects is maintained throughout Canada, United States and Great Britain. The cumulative experience of these men is available on request. In the consideration of new products, or better equipment to produce your products, the use of nickel or one of the many nickel alloys might prove highly advantageous.

by RIGHT HON. C. D. HOWE, P. C., M. P.

Minister of Trade and Commerce

★ The “Canadian Trade Index” has long been regarded, at home and abroad, as one of the best reference books on Canadian industry. The Canadian Manufacturers’ Association is again to be congratulated on this and other valuable services to Canadian business.

The new edition, like its many predecessors, is an excellent guide to Canadian sources of supply for potential customers in all parts of the free world. As always, the “Canadian Trade Index” will play a very useful part in the development of our export trade.

FOREIGN TRADE SERVICE

CANADIAN TRADE COMMISSIONER SERVICE

The Trade Commissioner Service consists of headquarters at Ottawa and offices administered by Trade Commissioners in various British and foreign countries. The Director has charge of the work of the Service at home and abroad, assisted by an Assistant Director.

The headquarters staff also includes a group of officials in charge of four world area sections, who are responsible for co-ordinating the work of the Trade Commissioner Service pertaining to their respective areas. In addition to this, these officials are responsible for general information and inquiries regarding trade in their respective areas.

At present there are forty-nine offices abroad. In addition to the trade commissioner, some offices have one or more assistant trade commissioners. At some posts these trade officers are attached to diplomatic missions and have the title and rank of Commercial Counsellor, Commercial Secretary, Consul or Vice-Consul, as the case may be.

Trade Commissioners promote both the export and import trade of Canada, and their services are at the disposal of firms and individuals interested in Canada's trade expansion.

The duties of the Trade Commissioner are to introduce Canadian exporters and importers to the corresponding businessmen of other countries; to study conditions and needs of the territories where they are located; to obtain and forward inquiries for Canadian goods to headquarters at Ottawa and Canadian exporters; to report on import requirements in their territories and to make direct inquiries or conduct preliminary surveys regarding the potential market for any product, reporting the exact kinds of goods wanted, competition to be met, methods of packing, shipping or billing, tariffs and trade regulations affecting these goods, etc.

With regard to imports, Trade Commissioners assist Canadian importers and manufacturers who desire advice on the present and prospective supply of goods and materials available in various countries, best methods of purchase, methods of approach to overseas suppliers, prices, specifications, packing, etc.

Trade developments the world over are reported by Trade Commissioners to the Department at Ottawa, and this information is available to all Canadian exporters and importers. They also prepare periodic reports on trade, business and financial conditions, markets for particular commodities, materials available for supply for import into Canada, and other related subjects for publication in Foreign Trade or in pamphlet form.

Trade Commissioners' Tours

The periodical return of Trade Commissioners for official tours of Canada is one of the most important factors in effecting practical co-operation between Canadian firms interested in foreign trade and businessmen in other countries. The Trade Commissioner can, during the course of his tour, call upon or discuss export and import problems with practically every firm specially interested in exporting to, or importing from, his territory. The Department endeavours to bring back the Trade Commissioners by a scheme of rotation, giving special consideration to officers in tropical or unhealthy posts, but these visits are always subject to the exigencies of trading conditions, and of the Service generally. Well in advance of the time of arrival in Canada individual exporters and importers are circularized for the purpose of determining what special points they wish to take up and on which full information is secured. In addition to this form of publicity, the Department publishes a notice in Foreign Trade inviting firms who may be interested in any particular territory to state whether an interview is desired. The names of such firms, together with those with whom the Trade Commissioner has been in communication, form the basis of the itinerary. Firms anxious to interview any Trade Commissioner on tour may do so by communicating with the Director of the Service.

ASSISTANCE AVAILABLE FROM CANADIAN TRADE COMMISSIONERS

Canadian exporters and importers can obtain assistance and information from branches and divisions of the Department of Trade and Commerce, including officers of the Canadian Trade Commissioner Service in fifty foreign posts. Similar guidance is available to overseas traders interested in the development of closer commercial relations with this country.

Although Canadian Trade Commissioners are in a position to furnish much information of a general and specific nature, preliminary inquiries concerning products or problems in which Canadian businessmen are interested should be submitted to one or other of the branches of the Department, in Ottawa, such as the Commodities Branch, Export Division and Import Division, Agriculture and Fisheries Branch, International Trade Relations Branch, Industrial Development Division, Transportation and Communications Division, Export and Import Permit Division and the Information Branch.

Canadian exporters should request a listing in the Exporters' Directory, while Canadian importers should request a listing in the Importers' Directory, which are maintained by the Commodities Branch and supplied to Canadian Trade Commissioners throughout the world. Thus, if an inquiry is received from a businessman in his territory, a trade commissioner is enabled to furnish the names of Canadian firms who might be interested in supplying the item required or in importing a product available for shipment in the country concerned.

A list of Canadian Trade Commissioners and their respective territories is published periodically in "Foreign Trade" and "Commerce Extérieur", issued each week by the Department of Trade and Commerce. The specific information obtainable from Canadian Trade Commissioners is listed below for the convenience of exporters and importers.

Market Requirements—The trade commissioner can advise on:

- (a) present and prospective market conditions;
- (b) types and classes of goods offering or required;
- (c) specifications, where required;
- (d) competition;
- (e) suitable buying and selling methods.

Sales Channels—The trade commissioner can:

- (a) assist in finding responsible firms in a position to act as agents, distributors or buyers;
- (b) advise on methods of sales approach and expansion.

Business Terms—The trade commissioner can give full information on:

- (a) current basis of price quotation;
- (b) current terms of payment;
- (c) financing of shipments;
- (d) exchange regulations.

Samples and Literature—Trade commissioners can:

- (a) recommend methods of distributing catalogues, price lists and other trade literature;
- (b) recommend methods of handling samples.

Credit Information—The trade commissioner is in a position:

- (a) to furnish confidential guidance on the status of overseas, as well as of Canadian firms;
- (b) when requested, to give confidential reports on the activities of overseas firms acting on behalf of Canadian business houses.

Tariffs and Regulations—The trade commissioner can assist in supplying information on:

- (a) customs tariff rates and regulations;
- (b) other government regulations, prohibitions, and the like;
- (c) documentation requirements, such as invoicing for customs purposes;
- (d) certification of documents;
- (e) marking and packing;
- (f) import and export quotas and permits.

Debts and Difficulties—Trade commissioners are able to:

- (a) give advice and assistance toward the settlement of difficulties that may arise between Canadian and overseas businessmen;
- (b) give guidance in respect to the recovery of debts;
- (c) make suggestions as to the disposal of goods which have not been accepted.

General—The advice of the trade commissioner can be sought in regard to:

- (a) the most suitable advertising media;
- (b) storage facilities;
- (c) shipping services;
- (d) regulations concerning commercial travellers;
- (e) travel procedure;
- (f) patents, brands and trademarks;
- (g) standards;
- (h) other subjects related to international trade.

Information Sought From Traders

The exporter or importer, when making inquiries from trade commissioners, should:

- (a) state whether his firm is a producer, agent or merchant;
- (b) give an accurate description of the goods, their specifications, qualities and grades;
- (c) bear in mind prices, f.o.b. factory are of no use in practically all cases;
- (d) indicate terms of payment desired;
- (e) where helpful, give technical information concerning the use of the product;
- (f) make clear the time lapse between receipt of order and possible shipment;
- (g) where necessary, stipulate quantities for which orders will be accepted;
- (h) give details of any previous agents or sales agents in the territory and, if connections still exist, their relationship with the fresh contacts sought;
- (i) state any previous experience in the territory.

COMMODITIES BRANCH

The Commodities Branch comprises the Export and Import Divisions, a staff of commodity officers, the Export and Import Permit Division and the Transportation and Communications Division.

Export Division—The primary function of the Export Division is to promote export trade. The division is, therefore, prepared to advise Canadian exporters on almost any phase of their export activities, such as trade procedure, potential markets and the selection of agents.

Officers of this division keep Canadian Trade Commissioners informed on the supply position in Canada, and handle trade inquiries received from abroad.

An Exporters' Directory, provides trade commissioners with up-to-date information on the names and products of firms interested in export trade. All Canadian firms interested in exporting should be listed in this Directory. Application forms may be obtained from the Exporters' and Importers' Directory Section, Department of Trade and Commerce.

The Export Division also administers the United Kingdom Token Shipment Scheme and the British West Indies Trade Liberalization Plan, for which details may be obtained from the Director of the Export Division.

Import Division—The Import Division is primarily responsible for assisting Canadian importers in their capacity either as a broker, wholesaler, manufacturer or agent. It also fosters, wherever possible, direct trading with sources of supply for raw materials and food products, semi-processed materials and manufactured goods, and protects Canadian interests in foreign supplies.

The Division maintains a confidential Directory of Importers and of overseas suppliers, cross indexed and classified by commodities of trade. All Canadian importers are invited to register their interests with this Division in order that Trade Commissioners in the field may be in a position to serve them. Application forms can be obtained from the Exporters' and Importers' Directory Section, Department of Trade and Commerce.

An important purpose of this Division is to win recognition for Canada as a market. The Division is equipped to co-ordinate the study within the Commodities Branch of all phases of import requirements governing the demand and supply situations, prices, shipping services, financial services, trade connections, trade practices, etc. Canadian Trade Commissioners are supplied with relevant data to facilitate the movement of goods to Canada in compliance with Canadian regulations as to invoicing, packaging, standards and general handling.

Transportation and Communications Division—The Transportation and Communications Division studies and keeps business interests advised on all developments in shipping, road, rail and air transportation relative to foreign trade. The Division maintains current information on services and facilities, either foreign or Canadian, that in any way affect the transportation of Canadian exports and imports. Data on restrictive measures affecting cargo movements, port changes, trade routes, changing currency restrictions and taxation of transportation earnings is also available and furnished to the Canadian firms. The Canadian businessman can look to the Division for counsel and assistance on cargo movements, cargo claims and other like transportation matters. It also deals with questions concerning cable, telegraph and telephone services abroad which have an effect on Canadian foreign trade.

AGRICULTURE AND FISHERIES BRANCH

The Agriculture and Fisheries Branch, as its title suggests, is concerned primarily with products of the farm and of the sea. Its three principal areas of responsibility include trade promotion, the development of information on foreign production and markets, and close co-operation with the Departments of Agriculture and of Fisheries.

Commodity Officers of the Branch, along with the Canadian Trade Commissioner Service, which includes a number of officers with special training in agriculture and fisheries, devote their attention to the development and maintenance of Canada's external trade in foodstuffs and allied commodities.

Reports on government operations and production trends in foreign countries, together with market analysis and economic studies with respect to agriculture and fisheries are submitted to this Branch by Canadian Trade Commissioners. These are analysed and distributed, both direct to the Canadian industries concerned and through the Departments of Agriculture and Fisheries, with which close co-operation prevails.

INTERNATIONAL TRADE RELATIONS BRANCH

The International Trade Relations Branch is responsible for the conduct of negotiations with the governments of other countries on a wide range of problems in the field of trade and commercial policy. It assists also in preparations for international trade conferences. Intensive studies are made of trade, financial and economic conditions in other countries, where these have important effects on Canadian trade. The Branch attempts to provide current information to exporters on foreign tariffs, documentation, trade agreements, import restrictions, currency and exchange restrictions, marking regulations, and, in general, all regulations of other governments which affect the importation of Canadian products into their respective countries.

INFORMATION BRANCH

The objectives of the Information Branch are (a) to acquaint Canadian businessmen, in particular, and the public generally with the facilities offered by the Department of Trade and Commerce; (b) to stimulate in Canada an appreciation of the importance of export and import trade to the Canadian economy, and to cultivate an informed approach to foreign trade transactions; and (c) to encourage foreign businessmen to consider Canada as a possible source of supply for goods required by them and as a market for their own commodities. It also aims to direct their attention to the services offered by the Canadian Government in facilitating trade with Canada.

The Information Branch is responsible for publication of "Foreign Trade" and "Commerce Extérieur", issued weekly, which contain reports from Canadian Trade Commissioners on market and economic conditions in their respective territories, reports and articles by Commodity Officers and other personnel of the Department of Trade and Commerce, in Ottawa, trade and tariff information, foreign exchange quotations and other information of value to the commercial community. The annual subscription to "Foreign Trade" or "Commerce Extérieur" is $2.00, for delivery in Canada, and $3.50, for delivery abroad.

INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT DIVISION

The objectives of the Industrial Development Division are to work closely with provincial, municipal, and other agencies in connection with the establishment of new industries, and the development of new products, including those suitable for export markets.

ASSOCIATED AGENCIES AND SERVICES

CANADIAN GOVERNMENT EXHIBITION COMMISSION

Under Order-in-Council P.C. 4171, the Canadian Government Exhibition Commission, a division of the Department of Trade and Commerce, is responsible for the organization and administration of all Canadian exhibits in international exhibitions, trade fairs, etc., in which the Canadian Government decides to participate.

The Commission is responsible for the organization and operation of the Canadian International Trade Fair. For this purpose it maintains an office in Toronto.

The Commission is required to work out methods by which practical assistance and advice can be extended to Canadian manufacturers and producers to increase the sale of their goods in countries abroad through the medium of exhibitions and trade fairs. In addition, the Commission endeavours to advise exhibitors and their agents on the best means of displaying Canadian products in countries abroad.

The Canadian Government Exhibition Commission maintains an office and plant in Ottawa, as well as a small branch in the United Kingdom, with an office at Canada House and warehouse facilities at Blackburn Road, in London.

Communications concerning exhibits and exhibitions should be addressed to the Director, Canadian Government Exhibition Commission, 479 Bank Street, Ottawa.

EXPORT CREDITS INSURANCE CORPORATION

Administered by a board of directors, including the Deputy Minister of Trade and Commerce, the Deputy Minister of Finance and the Governor of the Bank of Canada, the Corporation insures exporters against credit and political losses involved in the export or an agreement for the export of goods. Policies are issued on a yearly basis, covering exporters' sales to all countries and protecting them against some of the main risks of loss involved in foreign trade. The risks covered by Export Credits Insurance Policies include: insolvency or protracted default on the part of the buyer; exchange restrictions in the buyer's country preventing the transfer of funds to Canada; cancellation of an import licence or the imposition of restrictions on the import of goods not previously subject to restriction; the occurrence of war between the buyer's country and Canada, or of war, revolution, etc., in the buyer's country; and additional transport or insurance charges occasioned by interruption or diversion of voyage outside Canada or the continental United States of America.

The insurance is available under two main classifications: (i) General Commodities, (ii) Capital Goods. Coverage for General Commodities can be procured by exporters under two types of Policies: (i) the Contracts Policy, which insures an Exporter against loss from the time he books the order until payment is received; or (ii) the Shipments Policy, obtainable at lower rates of premium, and which covers the exporter from the time of shipment until payment is received. Insurance of Capital Goods offers protection to exporters of such commodities as plant equipment, heavy machinery, etc. which are subject to extended credit of longer periods than is customary for General Commodities. Special Policies are issued for transactions involving Capital Goods, but the general terms and conditions are the same as those applicable to Policies for General Commodities.

The Corporation insures exporters under all Policies up to 85 p.c. of the contract price, or gross invoice value of shipments. This co-insurance plan also operates in the distribution of recoveries obtained after payment of a loss, and these recoveries are shared by the Corporation and the exporter in the proportions of 85 and 15 respectively.

FINANCING EXPORT TRADE

The following statement, kindly prepared by C. K. Highmoor, Supervisor, Foreign Department, The Canadian Bank of Commerce, Head Office, Toronto, as of 1st March, 1953, outlines the services available through Canadian banks in connection with export business.

Every experienced Canadian exporter will agree that the sale of Canadian goods or services to a country outside Canada is not completed satisfactorily until the full amount of the anticipated proceeds have been placed at his disposal in Canada and in such form that without any encumbrance they can be used in Canada to pay for the wages, materials and other expenses which went into the creation of the goods or services sold. It takes time, effort and materials to produce goods which will compete in other lands with the products of other countries and no matter what care is taken in the preparation of the goods, in their prompt and safe delivery, and in following through to see that the goods are satisfactory to the eventual user, the benefit to the producer and to Canada is likely to be lost if similar care is not taken in the manner in which the proceeds are collected from abroad.

All Canadian banks operate Foreign Departments designed to facilitate transactions with other countries, whether these involve payments abroad or collections abroad, and exporters, particularly those expanding their activities into new fields abroad, should avail themselves of the services of their banks in guarding against errors and oversights which can be made in this important matter of obtaining payment in satisfactory form from purchasers of their products, whether in near or distant lands.

PRICE QUOTATIONS

Exporters seeking buyers abroad are free to express their prices in any form or in any currency which they may desire or find convenient, though naturally they must take into account also the convenience of the buyer. The currency in which they collect the proceeds is no longer a matter in which they are restricted by exchange control regulations in Canada and the principal consideration in the choice is whether the currency tendered is freely convertible in world markets or freely transferable to Canadian account. The position with respect to convertibility and transferability is subject to change but is followed closely and always known by all Canadian banks.

CLARITY OF CONTRACTS

It is most desirable that the contract entered into between seller and buyer shall be clear beyond doubt as to the expense included in the selling price and as to the currency and manner in which the transfer of money from abroad to Canada shall take place. Apart from the sales cost of the goods at the point of production in Canada, there are of course other costs, such as rail and ocean freight, marine and war risk insurance, export licence fees, possible storage, transshipment, inspection, wharfage, forwarding, and other similar costs with which every exporter is familiar, but also financing costs such as collection fees, interest, revenue stamps, and sometimes other costs such as telegraphic fees, protest fees, etc. which can be important and should not be overlooked.

It is possible for many of these to be foreseen, avoided, overcome, or at least provided for, at the time the contract is entered into, or in advance to last over a long period of time in the prospective dealings with an overseas buyer. In these latter respects Canadian banks can be most helpful and should be freely consulted.

METHODS OF PAYMENT

There are a number of methods by which payment can be received for shipments abroad and each has its appropriate place in a given set of circumstances.

The simplest, from the Canadian seller's point of view, is a remittance through banking channels at the time of acceptance of an order, in the appropriate currency, but this is a method which would be considered unreasonable by many buyers under normal conditions and one which few exporters would be able or care to require, particularly from firms of standing who would probably be unwilling to so employ their capital, having in mind that the goods may take some time to be prepared and shipped. Then again, under the Exchange Control regulations of their respective countries, buyers may be prohibited from making payment until the goods have either landed at their ports or are at least afloat.

A variation of this method is by direct remittance in the appropriate currency through banking channels when the goods have arrived, within a stated time thereafter, at time of shipment, or at some period mutually arranged between buyer and seller.

Another method is by drawing a draft on the buyers of the goods or their agents in the country of destination or elsewhere and lodging the draft for collection with a bank in Canada with or without shipping documents attached and either awaiting the returns of the collection by mail, air letter, air mail, or cable, or by borrowing thereagainst in Canada at the time the draft is lodged with the Canadian bank.

Still another method is to call for a Commercial Letter of Credit issued by the buyer's bankers and forwarded by mail to the seller or advised by cable through a bank in Canada.

The latter two methods are discussed more fully below under their respective headings.

FINANCIAL STANDING OF BUYER ABROAD

It is obviously important for the seller of Canadian goods to know something of the standing of buyers abroad not only from the point of view of moral reputation but also from a financial point of view and before considering the completion of any contract with strangers abroad it is desirable that inquiries should be made to that end. The Canadian banks, Government departments, the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, and other organizations have considerable information on the standing of firms abroad and can always assist in this respect even if inquiries have to be made abroad by mail or by wire. Upon this information depends to no little extent the choice of methods by which payment is to be sought and which in turn requires thought as to the extension of credit which is to be granted. This in turn depends on the seller's own financial ability to wait, the financial ability of the buyer to pay, the custom of the market into which the goods are to proceed, and the Exchange Control regulations governing payment from that market.

COLLECTIONS

Collections can be expressed in any currency but under present conditions are usually expressed in the currency agreed upon between buyer and seller according to his contract and as required under exchange control regulations of the buyer's country. They can call for payment on demand, at sight, or at an appropriate term, such as 30 days sight, 60 days sight, 90 days sight, etc. They can be clean, i.e. not supported by any documents, or can have attached whatever shipping documents are desired.

Obviously, if a company attaches a complete set of invoices, negotiable bills of lading, marine and war risk insurance certificates or policies for an adequate amount, and other documents required for the release of the goods in the country of destination, and these documents are endorsed where required by the seller, the collection controls and retains the ownership of the goods until by permission they are released or until the draft is paid.

When delivering a collection to a bank, the amount of the draft must be clearly expressed in words and figures, the name and address of the drawee must be clearly given, the revenue stamps attached, and the bank must clearly understand whether the collection is to go forward by ordinary mail or air mail. The bank must also be placed in a position to give appropriate instructions to its correspondent abroad and these instructions should cover points which are liable to come up when the draft gets to its destination. The following are examples of some of the instructions which might be given in varying circumstances:

Hold for arrival of goods.

Protest for non-acceptance.

Protest for non-payment.

Collect bank charges.

Waive bank charges if refused by drawee.

In case of need, refer to and advise immediately by mail (by cable).

Collect at selling rate for demand drafts on Remit proceeds by cable at our expense.

Allow drawee interest at . . . % per annum if paid before maturity.

In case of dishonor, store and insure goods at our expense, cabling promptly.

Other types of instructions will be needed in certain cases and these will vary with circumstances. The objective should be to see that the collecting bank abroad is not left in doubt as to the action which they should take in possible or likely eventualities.

It is possible for collections to be drawn in such a way that interest is to be collected from the drawee over and above the face amount of the draft and where this is required, it should be enfaced on the draft itself by means of an appropriate clause, such as:

‘Payable with interest at the rate of . . . % from date of draft to estimated arrival of return remittance in’

or ‘Payable at the collecting bank’s selling rate for sight drafts on Canada plus interest at the rate of . . . % from date of draft to estimated date of arrival of return remittance in Canada.’

If remittance is required by cable, the clauses would be changed appropriately. The rate of interest inserted is usually that common in the country of destination.

In many cases, if desired, collections can be discounted with Canadian banks at the time of lodgment and, when expressed in foreign exchange, the proceeds sold to or deposited with the bank. This disposes of the exchange risk if the draft is paid promptly but creates an exchange risk if the draft is dishonored. The availability for discount of a collection payable abroad depends, of course, upon the currency in which it is drawn, the term of the draft, the documents which are attached, but to a greater extent on the financial standing of the drawer and the drawee.

RISKS OF FLUCTUATION IN EXCHANGE RATES

The value in terms of Canadian dollars of all foreign currencies is subject to exchange fluctuations even under Control conditions as no one, not even Governments, can guarantee that current rates of exchange will remain unchanged over any stated period. To some extent these risks can be eliminated both under Control and open market conditions, by means of forward contracts. Canadians buying and selling goods abroad can enter into forward contracts with their banks for reasonable periods ahead when they have a firm contract with a buyer or seller abroad, and when a forward contract is entered into to deliver or take delivery of a stated amount of foreign exchange, the exchange risk is eliminated. Such contracts must, however, be completed and for the amount contracted. It is not possible to obtain a forward contract while open price quotations are in circulation prior to acceptance.

LETTERS OF CREDIT

Letters of Credit are extremely useful documents in financing foreign trade and the financing of a very large proportion of world trade is handled by that method. They are most adaptable and can be made to fit the requirements of almost any movement of goods under most circumstances. They vary, therefore, from country to country, from commodity to commodity, and between one method of shipment and another. While contracts in themselves, they do not constitute or replace sales contracts between buyers and sellers, but facilitate the carrying out of the latter. In all cases they carry an obligation of the issuer—in these days usually a bank—but the extent of these obligations varies from one credit to the next, and of course are no better than the standing and reputation of the issuer. It cannot, therefore, be taken for granted that every letter of credit is uniform with every other or that they remove all liability from the beneficiary.

They are at times irrevocable and at others revocable, at times carry the obligation only of the bank abroad, and at times carry the obligation not only of the bank abroad but also of a bank in Canada. They can be opened in such a way that the seller receives payment in Canada without further recourse on him, though never remove the responsibility for the sales contract to be duly and properly fulfilled. On the other hand, they may serve only the purpose of providing prompt cash in Canada with certain rights of recourse in some circumstances.

Their establishment by a bank abroad at the request of the buyer usually involves him in some expense and in the use of his credit, thereby adding some expense to the cost of the goods, so that they cannot, in face of competition, be requested in connection with every sale. The possibility of asking for payment in the form of a letter of credit should not, however, be overlooked and, if it is considered desirable that a letter of credit should be obtained, it is advisable to be somewhat specific in describing the type of letter of credit expected.

When details are received of a letter of credit which has been opened, it is important that its terms be studied and found acceptable. If unacceptable, request for amendment should be made immediately to the buyer so that no difficulty or delay will take place when the time comes to use the letter of credit. It is important also that the terms of the letter of credit be adhered to accurately and thoroughly since all letters of credit have an expiry date, either fixed in advance or at the pleasure of the issuer, and if the drafts and documents, upon presentation to a bank in Canada, are found out of order, the credit may have expired before the documents can be amended or corrected.

Space does not permit of a full description of the types of letters of credit or of all the documents for which they may call and the manner in which they should be prepared. In general, however, these documents must describe the goods at least as well as described in the letter of credit and must be in such negotiable shape that they control fully the eventual delivery of the goods, as well as guard against loss or damage while in transit. They rarely call for drafts on the buyer but usually for drafts on a particular bank and one of their important functions is to provide access to the principal money markets of the world so that interest costs involved are on an international level.

PRICE QUOTATIONS—DEFINITIONS

The basic transaction in international trade is the contract of sale and hence the terms employed in price quotations are of primary significance. The importance of there being a 'meeting of minds' of seller and buyer as to the intention of the parties conveyed in such terms is readily recognized. In an effort to define in a uniform manner certain well known terms generally used in making price quotations, there has been developed in various countries a set of rules or definitions which have been adopted by certain trade organizations and others setting out in some detail the obligations of seller and buyer attaching to the particular terms. In the United States the National Foreign Trade Council Incorporated, the National Council of American Importers Incorporated, and the Chamber of Commerce of the United States of America on July 30, 1941, through a joint committee, approved of what are known as "Revised American Foreign Trade Definitions—1941". These follow in general, although not in detail, the International Rules for the Interpretation of Trade Terms—generally known as "Incoterms, 1936"—approved by majority vote of the Council meeting of the International Chamber of Commerce on June 26, 1936. It should be understood, however, that the use of such rules is optional and that the approval of the particular rules referred to by designated trade bodies does not lend to them the force of law. Nevertheless, where a price quotation in accordance with these definitions and a contract of sale is concluded with a statement that the price is subject to these definitions, it would have considerable force in determining what is understood by the parties to the contract in respect to such price quotation.

While specific reference has been made to the "Revised American Foreign Trade Definitions—1941" and to "Incoterms—1936", it is essential to bear in mind, as previously pointed out, that foreign trade definitions have been issued by organizations in various parts of the world and the courts of different countries have interpreted these definitions in different ways. To reduce the opportunities for misunderstanding to a minimum, therefore, it is fundamental that there be agreement between seller and buyer as to what is actually meant when a price quotation is made. A buyer in a foreign country who is familiar with definitions endorsed by an organization in the foreign country and the court decisions interpreting such definitions, on receiving a price quotation from a seller in Canada is constrained to construe it in the light of such definitions unless the quotation is clarified by a stipulation as to what definitions apply in making the price quotation.

The terms commonly used are "F.O.B." (Free on Board); "C.I.F." (Cost, Insurance, Freight); "F.A.S." (Free Along Side) and certain elaborations of these terms. There are, however, many other terms which are used, some of which are shown in the definitions previously mentioned, while others are found in particular trades only. Where definitions are not formally approved and adopted by trade organizations for general use, it is necessary that a seller and buyer should specify exactly what is understood in respect thereto, indicating the obligations of both parties so that there may be no misunderstanding. In respect to "C.I.F." contracts, it further should be pointed out that the International Law Association adopted certain rules relating thereto in 1928 which, as later modified in 1931, are known as the "Warsaw-Oxford Rules".

In view of the foregoing very brief explanation of the importance of a mutual understanding between seller and buyer respecting price quotations, it will be seen that such matters should be given careful consideration so that the contract will be clearly understood by both parties.

Technical Abbreviations

USED IN FOREIGN TRADE and EXCHANGE TRANSACTIONS

The following list includes some of the principal abbreviations used in ocean shipping, transportation, marine insurance, and foreign exchange, as well as a number referring to standards, gauges, threads, dimensions, electrical and engineering terms. It was compiled with the assistance of our members, marine insurance companies, banks and departments of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. It is hoped it will be useful both to Canadian exporters and importers of Canadian products abroad.

EXPORT TRADE SERVICES AND POLICY OF THE CANADIAN MANUFACTURERS' ASSOCIATION

Practical Assistance to Exporters

The Canadian Manufacturers' Association, with its specialized Service Departments and its Division and Branch offices across Canada, is in a particularly strong position to assist its members in developing Export Trade.

More than 2,200 firms in the membership of the Association are interested in export, while many hundreds of the Association's members are substantial importers of materials and equipment. The Association also assists members with their import problems.

Service Departments

Established over 82 years ago, the Association's growth has paralleled that of manufacturing industry and export trade in Canada and it has built up Service Departments with a background of experience and information extending over many years. Indeed, export trade is specifically mentioned as a prime object of the Association in its Constitution, which provides that "The objects of this Association shall be to promote Canadian industries and to further the interests of Canadian manufacturers and exporters, and to render such services and assistance to the members of the Association and to manufacturers and exporters generally, as the Association may deem advisable from time to time".

There are many complications connected with doing export business. Questions concerning the transportation of goods overseas, the tariffs and other trading restrictions of importing countries, marine insurance, trade practices, trade statistics, credit information, translations, invoicing requirements and a multitude of other incidentals constantly arise.

The Canadian Manufacturers' Association, through its Tariff, Transportation, Legislation, Industrial Relations, Commercial Intelligence, Insurance and Publishing Departments can be of great help in solving these problems. These Departments, under expert management and with the cumulative experience of many years' study, are able to render a comprehensive service to members, covering all phases of export business.

The Commercial Intelligence Department is the Department having particular charge of export trade matters. It operates under a Commercial Intelligence Committee composed of representatives of different industries across Canada who are engaged in export trade. Under the guidance of the Commercial Intelligence Committee, the Association advocates and presses the adoption of those policies which will further the export business of its members.

The London, England, office of the Association, i.e., The Canadian Chamber of Commerce in Great Britain Inc., handles a variety of matters relating to Anglo-Canadian trade.

The Canadian Trade Index

The Association performs a particularly valuable service in the interests of Canadian export trade by compiling and publishing annually "The Canadian Trade Index", a volume of over 1150 pages, containing a complete list of all Canadian manufacturers with a carefully classified list of their products, together with much other useful information for industry and for firms engaged in export and import business. With the co-operation of the Department of Trade and Commerce at Ottawa, copies of "The Canadian Trade Index" are distributed to hundreds of importers in overseas countries through the offices of the Canadian Government Trade Commissioner Service.

Meetings and Conferences

The Association holds frequent meetings, large and small, to hear addresses on export trade, to entertain visitors from overseas, to discuss export problems and kindred matters and generally to promote the interests of Canadian exporters. At Annual General Meetings, largely attended Conferences on Export and International Trade are organized. The Export Study Clubs, organized in Toronto and Montreal under the auspices of the Commercial Intelligence Committee of the Association, are studying various phases of problems connected with export trade and hold regular meetings to discuss and exchange up-to-date information on export markets and techniques.

Policy on Export Trade

In connection with export and international trade a continuing study has been made of controls of materials, and the international currency situation. The Association maintains close co-operation with the Department of Trade and Commerce, the Department of Finance, the Department of External Affairs, and is in close touch with the Federation of British Industries, the National Association of Manufacturers in the United States, and the International Chamber of Commerce.

The Association stands for and advocates the greatest possible trade between nations. It is obvious that the well-being of the Canadian people depends to a great extent on the volume of her export trade, which provides the means of purchasing necessary imports.

The Association believes that the extent of Canada's export trade depends to a great degree, upon the ingenuity and hard work of the many thousands of Canadian firms and individuals engaged in the export of foodstuffs, raw materials, manufactured goods, and services. Exporters must have all possible knowledge of the trade practices and requirements covering export shipments and it is for this reason that the Association has paid so much attention to its specialized departmental services which have continuously expanded to keep abreast of the times.

In the increasingly complex modern world, however, government policy plays a growing part. Canadian Governments have always displayed a keen interest in the problems of exporters, and, wherever and whenever necessary, the Association has placed the views of exporters before the Government. In passing, it might be mentioned that commencing in 1901 the Association has made strong representations to the Government to establish and expand a Canadian Trade Commissioner Service. Down through the years the Association has co-operated particularly closely with the Department of Trade and Commerce and the Trade Commissioner Service.

TRADE STATISTICS

Canada, with ten Provinces and two Northern territories, stretching from the Atlantic to the Pacific Oceans and from the United States border to the North Pole, comprises an area of 3,845,144 square miles, an area greater than the whole of Europe, and forms about 28% of the total area of the British Commonwealth. Despite the fact that she has only a little more than one-half of 1% of the world's population, Canada ranks third amongst the trading nations of the world and is estimated to stand sixth in industrial production.

In 1952, Canada's imports and exports reached a new peak value of $8,386,400,000 and the actual volume of trade was about 11% higher than the previous year. The United States accounted for the majority of this trade, supplying nearly 74% of total commodities imported and purchasing about 54% of the exports.

The leading export commodities in 1952 were as follows: wheat, newsprint paper, lumber, wood pulp, grain, aluminum and its products, nickel, copper and copper products, wheat flour, fishery products, farm machinery and implements, zinc and zinc products, asbestos and asbestos products, pulpwood and other unmanufactured wood, alcoholic beverages, lead and lead products, freight automobiles, precious metals (not including gold), machinery, passenger automobiles, and fertilizer.

Canada is also an important market for the world's commodities and her per capita rate of imports is exceeded by no other major trading nation. Leading import commodities in 1952 were as follows: machinery, crude petroleum, farm implements and machinery, automobile parts, coal, rolling mill products, electrical apparatus, engines and boilers, petroleum products, fruits, aircraft and parts, cotton products, sugar and sugar products, raw cotton and linters, freight and passenger automobiles, pipes, tubes and fittings, coffee and chicory, steel products, rubber and rubber products.

Statistics of Canada's external trade in 1952 by countries are given on the following pages.

The
CANADIAN MANUFACTURERS' ASSOCIATION
 INCORPORATED

For Eighty-Two Years
The National Organization of Canada's Manufacturers

★ A non-profit, non political organization of manufacturers in every line of industry from coast to coast who are joined together to consider and take action on their common problems.

The basic objective of the Association is, and always has been, to encourage by every available means, the growth, development and expansion of manufacturing in Canada, the increase of Canadian exports, the greatest possible employment of Canadians, and the fullest use of Canadian grown or produced materials.

6,900 members (80% of whom have less than 100 employees) located in more than 600 cities, towns and villages, in all provinces of Canada.

Explanation of List

★ THE LIST beginning on the opposite page comprises the names and addresses, alphabetically arranged, of all firms appearing in the classified section of the Canadian Trade Index. In this list we have tried to give the users of the book some information that will be useful in getting into quick touch with the makers of any desired article.

No street addresses are given in Part 3 (the classified article section). These are recorded where necessary to complete the address in Part 2 (the alphabetical list).

We have not attempted to give, in this list, any full account of the products. These will all be found under separate headings in the classified section on pages 543 and following. Where the firm or company name does not indicate clearly the line of goods manufactured, some of the main articles produced, or the nature of the firm's business, are mentioned.

The address given is that of the main place of business in Canada, usually the head office, although it may be both factory and office address. The addresses given later, under "Factories," "Mills," or "Plants" are generally those of branch factories. Branch offices also are given.

For. Rep. or simply Rep. means foreign or other representative for export sales purposes.

The Cable addresses and codes will be found useful in initiating and transacting export business.

Names of new firms received too late for listing in the main body of the green section will be found under "Additions" at the end of this section.

The Editor.
